

The survey opens before dawn. Field notes begin with a short summary.

The first page ends mid discussion.

The second page continues the same analysis. Readers follow the thread across the page break.

A closing note confirms the record. The final entry remains bound to page two.